*Ready to make a difference in climate policy, but not sure where to start? We have you covered. The Environmental and Energy Study Institute (EESI) invites you to join us for our start-of-the-new-Congress briefing series, Climate Camp. We will review climate science, cutting-edge innovations, and the role of the legislative process in climate mitigation and adaptation.*

The surface transportation bill reauthorizes federal highway, transit, and rail funding and programs every five years. This final briefing of EESI's Congressional Climate Camp series will provide a breakdown of everything decision-makers need to know ahead of the bill's next reauthorization in 2026.

Panelists will describe the transportation bill's history, including bipartisan cooperation, climate-related provisions, and external stakeholder engagement. Looking ahead, the briefing will explain the general timeline for the reauthorization, the bill's jurisdiction, and key issues across bill titles. The briefing will also share on-the-ground climate success stories from the most recent reauthorization—the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act.

Speakers for this session include:

- ▶ Benito Pérez, Policy Director, Transportation for America
- ▶ Shruti Vaidyanathan, Director, Transportation Advocacy, Climate, and Energy, Natural Resources Defense Council
- ▶ Jennifer Boysko, Virginia State Senator
- ▶ Amber Dallman, Office of Sustainability and Public Health Director, Minnesota Department of Transportation
